

TEACHING EXCELLENCE AWARDS 2019 CALL FOR NOMINATIONS AND APPLICATIONS

The College of Health Sciences Teaching and Learning Office invites nominations/applications for the Teaching Excellence Awards for 2019.

An award of R10 000 is allocated to each of the categories below:

CATEGORY 1: Outstanding Contribution to Teaching

This award recognises an outstanding contribution to the teaching endeavour in the College. This contribution can include the development of new technologies for classroom teaching or assessment; online teaching materials; training programmes for staff: mentoring of new lecturers; development of academic development and support programmes and successful supervision of postgraduate students to completion.

CATEGORY 2: Teaching Excellence in the Decentralized Clinical Training Platform

This award recognises knowledge integration and application to the clinical setting. It highlights specific contribution to promoting teaching excellence in the Decentralised Clinical Training Platform, using best clinical teaching techniques, online teaching, experimental, peer teaching and mentoring. The nominee must demonstrate use of fair assessment strategies which are workable and appropriate.

CATEGORY 3: The Best Emerging Teacher

This award recognizes newly appointed staff who has demonstrated excellence in classroom or clinical teaching, however, may not have published in teaching. The nominee should be a lecturer (permanent or fixed term appointment for 2 years) who has been teaching either under- or post graduate programmes for less than 3 years. The award is to be used for research purposes.

Staff may apply directly or be nominated by colleagues and/or students.

The following documentation must be submitted in electronic format to Miss Melissa Manuel at manuelm@ukzn.ac.za by Friday, 30 August 2019:

- 1) Application/nomination form;
- 2) A motivation letter supporting the nomination/application;
- 3) Teaching Portfolio of any form of Portfolio of Evidence (electronic version)

Candidates will be notified by the 18 September 2019 of the outcome.
